How Children Learn

Kindergarten children learn in many ways. Some children learn best through sight or sound while others respond to tactile cues or to movement activities. Kindergarten teachers use a variety of techniques to reinforce learning.

In general, kindergartners require active learning through hands-on experiences. The teacher is a facilitator who guides young learners as they explore, discover, manipulate, observe, express and experiment. Children also learn from each other, both individually and in groups, as they question and explore their world.

Children come to kindergarten with many individual differences. The experienced Hebrew Academy staff works with each child to help them grow and learn. We recognize the individuality of each child and the wide range of abilities found in kindergarten. Our program reflects our sensitivity to each child's developmental needs and our commitment to high academic standards.
